Goa'uld- A race of thousands of frail but aggressive parasites. Larvae reside between the brain stem and spinal cord of a host. Born with a genetic memory from their maternal bloodline. Jaffa cannot communicate with their larvae. This permits them to control the actions of the host. Using their superior technology, the Goa'uld can easily conquer primitive races by appearing as gods. The Goa'uld do give their hosts increased knowledge, strength, stamina and healing power. Apparently a Goa'uld can voluntarily leave their hosts alive and intact but most seem to prefer remaining. Goa'uld have been witnessed to threaten the lives of their hosts to prevent tampering by others. They can also give the hosts back control of their bodies. Generally a larvae can transfer itself to a new host kill the Goa'uld while leaving the host alive. A larval Goa'uld must spent several years in a Jaffa to mature before it can be implanted in a host. Pregnancy forces the parasite into dormancy. It seems the parasite will force a pregnancy into premature delivery therefore the parasite must become dormant and return control of the host to the host. The do possess the knowledge to forcibly remove a from its host, leaving the host intact. When the goa'uld dies first it apparently releases a toxin into the host's body, killing it slowly and painfully. A goa'uld queen can make a conscious decision to make her off-spring with or without personalities.

Jaffa Priests- these people care for the infant Goa'uld and carry on the Primta procedures and the transferring between hosts.

Jaffa- they carry a larval Goa'uld in a pouch in their abdomen. Larvae trades incubation for superior strength and healing ability. The host maintains control of his/her thoughts and free will. Jaffa are mainly the foot soldiers of the Goa'uld They wear armor specific to who they serve (Apophis' device is a serpent and all his Jaffa wear serpent symbols) The Jaffa incubate the Goa'uld for several years before it is mature enough to be implanted into a host. A Jaffa then receives a new larvae. To prevent rejection by a hosts' immune system, the larvae destroys the hosts immune system and uses its own. Therefore once a Jaffa has been given his Primta he/she cannot live without a larva. There is some success using tretonin, but it has a 80% success rate.
